

The Collegiate Gymnasium Transforms into Churchill Downs

Coming into the Collegiate south gymnasium recently was like taking a tour of the Churchill Downs horse track in Kentucky. There was a grandstand, stick horses, jockey hats, fancy hats, mint juleps, roses, and the singing of “My Old Kentucky Home.” The gymnasium was actually the sight of this year’s Early Childhood Kentucky Derby. As you can see from the pictures, the students had a fun time!

Racing fans fill the grandstand. Singing “My Old Kentucky Home” and drinking lemonade mint juleps. Binoculars help us see better.

Jockeys line up for the start of the Kentucky Derby

Ladies spruce up the Kentucky Derby with their festive hats.

A rose dress for the “Run for the Roses.” One of our many winning jockeys.
